

TURNING 65 CURRENTLY ON RETIREE BENEFITS

Your Roadmap to Medicare

Navigating your Medicare enrollment timeline can be confusing. Use this handy guide for a smooth transition.

Age 64 &
Age 65

Weigh your Options

Recommended: Possible Cost Analysis

Many times it makes more sense to keep retiree group coverage when you turn 65 because premiums may be fairly low. However, retiree benefits vary widely between employers and unions, it is prudent to do a cost analysis between your retiree health plan and a private Medicare Supplement and Medicare Rx plan.

(additional consideration if you have a dependent spouse under age 65 that needs to maintain coverage)

Before
Age 65

Medicare Part A&B

Recommended: Probably ENROLL

Most retiree health plans require that you ENROLL in Medicare. In Medicare's "Who pays First" Guide, it states that Medicare is the primary insurer if you are over 65 and not actively at work (through the employer providing retiree benefits). Medicare Enrollment is not normally automatic unless you are collecting social security income. The quickest way to enroll is to visit www.ssa.gov/medicare and complete the short online enrollment form. If you enroll prior to your birthday month, your effective date will be the 1st of the month that you turn age 65.

Go online to www.ssa.gov/medicare or call SS at: 800-772-1213 to enroll

Medicare Supplement

If a supplement, Rx or Dental Vision plan outside of your Retiree benefits makes sense for you, now is the time to enroll (should enroll between 3 months before your 65th birthday to 6 months following your 65th birthday). We are happy to guide you through this process and shop the coverages for you. (You will be able to enroll for a Medicare Supplement later but will only have limited plans that offer coverage without a medically underwritten application.)

Then Just Sit Back, Relax and Enjoy Retirement!

Rely on us to help you with all future retirement healthcare needs! Call any time with questions. If you enrolled for a Rx plan through us, we will reach out to you in the beginning of October each year to remind you to update us with your current Rx list so we can help you make your Rx plan selection during Annual Enrollment.
